FAVORED A HIGHER FINE.

Will Taylor, the son of the present American Consul at Marseilles, was a good deal like other boys, while at school in his old home, of Hudson, Wis. One day he called his father into the library

"Pa, I don't like to tell you, but the teacher and I have had trouble. "What's the matter now?"

"Well, I cut one of the desks a little with my knife, and the teacher says I've got to pay a dollar or take a lickin'.'
"Well, why don't you take the licking and say nothing more about it? I can stand considerable physical pain, so long as it visits our family in that form. Of course, it is not pleasant to be flogged, but you have broken a rule of the school, and I guess you'll have to stand it. I presume that the teacher will in wrath remember mercy, and avoid disabling you so that you want to the teacher will be to the teacher will be to the teacher will be to the teacher with the teacher will be to the teacher with the teacher will be to the teacher so that you can't get your coat on any

"But, Pa, I feel mighty bad about it already, and if you would pay my fine I'd never do it again. I know a good deal more about it now and I will never do it again. A dollar ain't much to you, pa, but it's a heap to a boy that hasn't got a cent. If I could make a dollar as easy as you can, pa, I'd never let my little boy get flogged that way just to save a dollar. If I had a little feller that got licked bekuz I didn't put up fer him, I'd hate the sight of money always. I'd feel as ef every dollar I had in my pocket had been taken out of my little kid's back."
"Well, now, I'll tell you what I'll do.

A Novel Proposition Which Was Immediately Acted Upon by a Pair

GALENA, Mo., December 21.-For some most intimate of neighbors, and scarcely a night passed that they with their charming young spouses were not in each other's company. They exchanged evenings with each other at games of whist and chess and exchanged wives for partone had the other's wife, and the most affectionate caresses seemingly could not ruffle the conjugal serenity.

"Loomis, suppose we swap wives," said Mr. Massengale one evening recent y while returning from a church soci-

"That's a bargain, old man, and I'm in for it if the girls don't object," and as he replied Mr. Loomis drew Mrs. Massengale's arm closer into his and looked juestioningly into her eyes that flashed back a confirmation of the low "yes" that scaped her lips. Yesterday the proposition was agreed upon by all hands, and Nathan gave over Mrs. Massengale and a few months' old baby to boot in trade for Mrs. Loomis. But Mrs. Loomies tried to take with her horse and buggy which she claimed is her personal property. Loomis objected, and Mrs. Massengale murmured at his interference, alleging that at least the baby more than counterbalanced the valu of the turnout.

"Take your baby back," said the new Mrs. loomis to her former husband. Mr. Massengale drew a shotgun from the folds of his breakfast coat and blazed away, narrowly making a widow of his original wife, and Mr. Loomis, drawing a Remington from his smoking-jacket, also narrowly escaped making an orphan of the disputed child. Matters, however, were finally amicably settled, and the carranged families are now happy. Writs have been taken out in the courts,

so that the boy will be able to know who
